Out and About Guide

Whether you know it as Hurst Street or Gay Village, this city centre strip is brimming with gay bars and clubs. Home to some of the busiest late night bars in Birmingham, Hurst Street have everything from up town boozers to downtown clubs that host some of the biggest Pride parties in the city. Check out our recommendations for the the best bars on Hurst Street and the Gay capital of Birmingham.

Nightingale Club : If you're looking for one of the biggest and if not the best Gay clubs in Birmingham, then you've come to the right place. Infamous for their post-Pride parties, stilt walkers and fire breathers, there's no expense spared when it comes to this lively Hurst Street bar. From VIP booths to dapper drinks deals, everyone is catered for at Nightingale.

Sidewalk : A buzzing DJ bar in Birmingham, Sidewalk are known for their raucous weekend parties. From cool chesterfield sofas and leather padded bar fronts, to low lighting and exposed brick work, Sidewalk is a happy middle between modernity and traditional. For some of the best drinks deals in Birmingham head to 'Pounded' every Monday night.

Missing Bar : Missing is dedicated to one thing: partying! One of the city's smaller venues, its small size just means a more intimate, boisterous personality, with tonnes of attitude in everything from its DJ nights to drag shows. If you want a fun night in Hurst Street, you can't go far wrong with Missing.
